

Heated Oxygen Sensor

- This sensor converts the oxygen concentration in the exhaust gas into an electromotive force in order to determine whether the mixture is rich or lean in relation to the stoichiometric air-fuel ratio.

EG

A4270106P