BODY

HIGHLY RIGID BODY

DESCRIPTION

A highly rigid body has been achieved by using highly rigid pillar joints, unitized No. 3 side panel and front and center door frames, optimal division of the roof panel sections, two instrument panel reinforcements, and new frame design.

BODY SHELL

The joints between the pillar and outer rail, and the roof and outer rail have been upgraded to enhance rigidity.

