INTERIOR

Based on a design concept of brightness and wholesomeness, the new Coaster interior gives a sense of freedom befitting the modern age.

CABIN

- The engine is mounted slightly forward compared to the previous model, permitting a lower front floor level. This modification made it possible to flatten the floor area where the second-row seats are mounted, and improve the passengers' forward view.
- The cooler evaporator, previously located in the rear ceiling area, has been moved forward to give more head clearance to the rearmost passengers.
- The overall interior height has been increased for improved freedom of movement.
