■FRAME

- The frame is basically the same ladder type used in the previous model. However, on the new model, the shapes of the cross member and various brackets have been changed, and reinforcements have been provided in the frame to realize excellent collision safety performance.

140BO106