BODY

- Through the optimized allocation of component materials and the generous application of high-strength sheet steel, the body of Hilux is now more rigid and lightweight.
  Furthermore, anti-corrosion sheet steel and various chip-resistance treatments have been generously applied to ensure outstanding corrosion resistance.
- Pipe type side protection beams are mounted in the center space between the door panels on the all models.

Double Cab Model

140IN06