■ SEAT POSITION DETECTION METHOD

A pulse generation circuit in driver seat ECU converts the driving current pulsations that are generated by the rotation of the motor into pulse signals. These signals are then used in order to detect the seat position.

